

2005 Belgravia Reserve Shiraz

Winemaker's notes

Careful fruit selection in the vineyard has combined fruit freshness and lift with seasonal ripeness. This was followed by traditional fermentation in open vats and then maturation in 500-litre French oak puncheons. Still young, it is drinking beautiful now but will really blossom over the next 2-3 years.

Alcohol 14.3 %

Aroma and palate

Fresh mulberry and plum with a dusting of white pepper. The palate is bright and clearly defined with fine-grained tannin.

Drink with ...

A spicy cool climate shiraz like this one works best with spicy dishes. Try with a butterflied leg of lamb marinated in harissa and preserved lemon before being barbecued. Would also be great with a cheese plate.

$29.99 per bottle or $150 for a six-pack
